Why we give and where

As an engaged corporate member of the community, we recognize the need to inform, to be informed and to take action to inspire, protect and develop contributing members of our communities. Our giving program is part of an overall strategy to do just that.

In 2010, we awarded generously to various non-profits, charities, events, schools, organizations and teams. At Pima Federal Credit Union, our plan is to focus on the following areas of giving:

Youth Development and Education

We look for programs focused on the needs of early childhood and K-12 youth that fulfill their educational experience, promote their well-being and inspire them to reach their full potential.

Community Development

Our contributions are made to organizations that promote wellness and stability in our community, specifically in regard to the financial literacy needs of low-to-moderate income individuals.

The Arts

We support community-based arts organizations that lend to the diversity and culture of our communities.
